About the Owner-

Jason Lofton formed QTI after being in the utility construction business for well over 15 years. He has personally been responsible for multi-million dollar projects across the country. His leadership and management skills have been instrumental in guiding QTI as the company continues to grow. Jason's vision is for QTI to be recognized as a good choice, single source provider. QTI is privately owned and operated as both a Minority and Veteran owned company.

The History of QTI, Inc.

2003 was the start of something big for Jason Lofton. On the same day he resigned from his previous company, he attended a pre-bid as an independent. He didn't get the job that day but he did get the next three and consequently QTI, Inc. was born. Many ask what does QTI stand for? Being a family owned company and Jason's strong family values, QTI represents the first initial of Jason's three children, Quinten, Tate and Ian.

In the past eight years QTI has grown from strictly an underground construction firm to a very diversified player in several aspects of the construction world. These opportunities are derived from the specific needs of QTI's clientele. The partnerships between QTI and its customers has been a win - win for both involved. QTI has become a recognized and dependable supplier in construction services while its customers have increased their MBE/Veteran spend.
